HUMANTOUCH
DENMARK 2020

AN INTENSE, FUN AND FOCUSED COURSE FOR THERAPISTS

All leadership depends on the inner state of the leader.

This weekend, the invitation is to sense and feel the world - the inner as well as the outer.

We work with theories and practices in relation to deeper communication and change.

Communication that works and awakens the deeper layers of all of us as human beings and which therefore has a special meaning and which deserves special attention is fundamentally characterised by being based on decency.

Therefore, it is part of the course's focus areas to explore and work on understanding the basic elements and mechanisms that underpin the decency of any interaction.

Since the therapist in the therapeutic processes, among other things, acts as a leader and is a mirror, a role model, a catalyst, it is crucial that he or she can function from a centred and grounded state.

Therefore, work is done with the therapist's ability to create and expand a centred starting point for communication.

Through concrete techniques and in-depth body work, you are introduced to how you can help clients and groups to release and develop their abilities and skills. You learn to be able to communicate to the deeper feelings, visions and longings.
